Mortuary customs in prehistoric Malta

Excavations at the Brocthorff Circle at Xaghra (1987–94)

Edited by Caroline Malone, Simon Stoddart, Anthony Bonanno and David Trump with the support of Tancred Gouder and Anthony Pace

with contributions by
Geraldine Barber, Rhona Chalmers, Gordon Cook, Nathaniel Cutajar,
John Dixon, Corinne Duhig, Reuben Grima, Holly Hardisty,
Peter Hardy, Chris Hunt, Alain Kermorvant, Luca Lai, Robert Leighton,
Joseph Magro-Conti, George Mann, Begoña Martinez-Cruz, Simon Mason,
Tamsin O’Connell, Martyn Pedley, Fulgencio Prat-Hurtado, David Redhouse,
Patrick Schembri, Colin Stove, Bridget Trump and Robert Tykot

Principal illustrations by
Steven Ashley, Ben Plumridge, Caroline Malone and Simon Stoddart

Published with the aid of principal grants from
The Alwyn Cotton Foundation, the Kress Foundation,
the Mediterranean Archaeological Trust and the McDonald Institute
Contents

Contributors xi
Figures xiii
Tables xx
Forewords The Hon. Dolores Cristina, Giovanna Debono & Colin Renfrew xxi
Preface and Acknowledgements xxi

Chapter 1
Introduction: the Intellectual and Historical Context
Caroline Malone, Simon Stoddart, Anthony Bonanno, Tancred Gouda, Reuben Grima & David Trump 1
1.1. The significance of the work on Gozo 1
1.2. The general archaeological history of the Maltese Islands and background to research and the Gozo Project 1987–94 5
1.3. The present project 6
1.4. The history of research into domestic structures of the Temple Period: the context of the Ghajnsielem Road structure 7
1.5. The history of research into Temple Period mortuary structures: the context of the Circle 7
1.6. The construction of a cultural sequence and a chronology 15

Chapter 2
The Environment of the Maltese Islands
Patrick J. Schembri, Chris Hunt, Martyn Pedley, Caroline Malone & Simon Stoddart 17
2.1. The geography of the Maltese Islands 17
2.2. The geology of Gozo 17
2.3. Climate and soils 18
2.4. Ecosystems 19
2.5. Archaeological approaches and environmental sampling 19
2.6. Terrestrial molluscs and the changing environment of the Circle 20
2.7. Landscape evolution in the Maltese Islands 20
2.8. The landsnails of Malta — characteristics of the Maltese non-marine snail fauna and their biogeography and ecology 21
2.9. Mollusc taphonomy — processes on archaeological sites 22
2.10. Sampling strategy and methodology 23
2.10.1. Preparation of samples 23
2.10.2. Stratigraphic procedure 27
2.10.3. Statistical analysis 27
2.11. Overall ecological patterns in the Circle samples 27
2.12. Ecological patterns by phase 29
2.13. Discussion and conclusions 38
2.14. Conclusion: archaeological implications 39

Chapter 3
The Domestic Environment
Caroline Malone, Reuben Grima, Joseph Magro-Conti, David Trump, Simon Stoddart & Holly Hardisty 41
3.1. Methods to investigate the domestic environment 41
3.2. The survey results 41
3.3. Ghajnsielem Road 42
3.3.1. Introduction 42
3.3.2. Structure 1 43
3.3.3. Structure 2 49
3.3.4. The overall layout 49
3.3.5. Dating 49
3.3.6. Environmental study 51
3.4. Synthesis and significance 51
3.5. Material and construction 52
Chapter 4  The Ritual Environment: the Context of the Circle
Reuben Grima, Caroline Malone & Simon Stoddart
4.1. The location
4.2. Ġgantija
4.3. Ghar ta' Ghejzu
4.4. Santa Verna
4.5. 'Another circle of Cyclopean wall'
4.6. The integrated ritual context
4.7. Conclusions

Chapter 5  Methods Applied in the Analysis of the Circle
Caroline Malone, Simon Mason & Simon Stoddart
5.1. Introduction
5.2. Pre-survey studies
5.3. Geophysical survey at the Circle and interpretation of the resistivity and magnetometer results
5.3.1. Introduction
5.3.2. The resistivity and proton magnetometer survey
5.3.3. Interpretation of the resistivity and magnetometer results
5.3.4. Ground-penetrating radar
5.4. Survey and condition of the Circle
5.5. Excavation methodology, recording and post-excavation analysis
5.5.1. Introduction
5.5.2. Pottery analysis
5.5.3. Analysis of other samples and small finds
5.6. Excavation progress and development
5.7. Environmental sampling programme on the site
5.8. Computing applications
5.9. Photography

Chapter 6  The Archaeological Sequence of the Circle
Simon Stoddart, Peter Hardy, Caroline Malone, Simon Mason,
Martyn Pedley & David Trump
6.1. Introduction
6.2. Pre-human development: the formation of the cave complex
6.3. Introduction to the methodology
6.4. Żebbuġ phase activity
6.5. Mġarr phase activity
6.6. Ġgantija phase activity
6.7. Saflieni-style activity
6.8. Tarxien phase activity
6.9. Cave collapse
6.10. Tarxien Cemetery phase activity
6.11. Borg in-Nadur phase activity
6.12. The Bayer event
6.13. Agricultural features

Chapter 7  Żebbuġ Phase Levels: Spatial and Stratigraphic Analysis
Caroline Malone, Simon Stoddart, David Trump & Corinne Duhig
7.1. Introduction
7.2. The intact Żebbuġ rock-cut tomb
7.2.1. Introduction
7.2.2. The tomb
7.2.3. The shaft
7.2.4. The west chamber
7.2.5. The east chamber
7.2.6. Associated grave goods
7.2.7. The human remains

Contents
7.3. Other Żebbuġ deposits at the Circle
7.3.1. Niche on southwestern edge of East Cave
7.3.2. Deposits above the East Cave collapse
7.3.3. Lower levels of the south edge of the site
7.3.4. The south edge of the site
7.3.5. West niche in the West Cave system
7.3.6. Other rich deposits in the West Cave area
7.3.7. Bayer clearance deposit
7.4. Discussion

Chapter 8
The Tarxien Phase Levels: Spatial and Stratigraphic Analysis and Reconstruction
SIMON STODDART, CAROLINE MALONE, SIMON MASON, BRIDGET TRUMP & DAVID TRUMP
8.1. Ground-level surface features
8.1.1. The Circle
8.1.2. Threshold features
8.1.3. Tarxien burial pits
8.2. Below-surface features: northern zone
8.2.1. Introduction
8.2.2. Northern test pit
8.2.3. North niche
8.2.4. Deep zone in West Cave
8.2.5. Northeast niche
8.2.6. Intermediate ‘entry’ zone of niches between northeast niches and central ‘Shrine’
8.3. Below-surface features: central zone of West Cave
8.3.1. Central ‘Shrine’
8.3.2. Display zone (783) within West Cave
8.3.3. West niche
8.4. Below-surface features: collapsed East Cave
8.4.1. Introduction: collapsed East Cave zone (originally Area H)
8.4.2. The Intermediate zone (a)
8.5. Below-surface features: southern zone of West Cave
8.5.1. Deposits in the southeastern area of the West Cave related to the tapering stone at the entrance (553)
8.5.2. Test pit
8.5.3. Southern end of West Cave sequence
8.5.4. The inner niches demarcated by white chalky limestone deposits
8.6. Below-surface features: the interlinkage from South Cave to areas to the north
8.6.1. The interlinkage to East Cave — the Intermediate zone and external screen
8.6.2. The interlinkage to the ‘Shrine’
8.6.3. Rock-fall and slump deposits
8.7. Architecture within the Circle and the caves
8.7.1. Approaches to the study of reconstruction
8.7.2. Structural arrangements

Chapter 9
Spatial and Stratigraphic Analysis of Tarxien Cemetery Levels
NATHANIEL CUTAJAR, REUBEN GRIMA, ANTHONY PACE, SIMON STODDART & HOLLY HARDISTY
9.1. The northern area of the site
9.1.1. Stratigraphic succession
9.1.2. Discussion
9.2. The eastern edge of the site
9.2.1. The stratigraphic succession
9.2.2. Discussion
9.3. The Threshold area
9.4. The cave collapse above East Cave (originally Area H)
9.5. The western edge of the caves
9.6. Discussion
Chapter 10
Material Culture

Caroline Malone, Anthony Bonanno, David Trump, John Dixon, Robert Leighton, Martyn Pedley, Simon Stoddart & Patrick J. Schembri

10.1. Introduction
10.2. The pottery

10.2.1. Introduction
10.2.2. Żebbuġ phase
10.2.3. Mgarr, Ġgantija and Saflieni phases
10.2.4. Mgarr phase
10.2.5. Ġgantija phase
10.2.6. Saflieni style
10.2.7. Tarxien phase
10.2.8. Exotic pottery
10.2.9. Tarxien Cemetery phase
10.2.10. Later phases

10.3. The lithic assemblage

10.3.1. Introduction
10.3.2. Flint and chert
10.3.3. Obsidian
10.3.4. Ground and polished stone
10.3.5. Pebbles

10.4. Worked limestone

10.4.1. Carved and worked stone fragments from the Circle
10.4.2. Stone triangular-shaped weights
10.4.3. Bowls, palettes and lamps, lids and footed vessels
10.4.4. Grinding and polishing stones
10.4.5. Querns
10.4.6. Troughs and large vessels

10.5. Shells and beads

10.5.1. Introduction
10.5.2. Locations and context
10.5.3. Function, use and materials
10.5.4. Organic material
10.5.5. The significance of the shell assemblage
10.5.6. The ornament assemblage
10.5.7. Beads and threaded shells
10.5.8. Comparanda
10.5.9. ‘V’-perforated buttons

10.6. Worked bone

10.6.1. Bone carvings and sculpture
10.6.2. Decorative bone work (non-pendant)
10.6.3. Bone work: utilitarian

10.7. Figurative sculpture

10.7.1. Statue menhir from the Żebbuġ rock-cut tomb (SF88, context (276))
10.7.2. The large Temple Period standing figure
10.7.3. The seated paired figures: SF742
10.7.4. The ‘shaman’s’ cache: SF784
10.7.5. The smaller figurative stone sculpture and terracotta models from the Circle

10.8. Tarxien Cemetery objects

10.8.1. The discoid modelled figures

Chapter 11
The Human and Animal Remains

Simon Stoddart, Geraldine Barber, Corinne Duhig, George Mann, Tamsin O’Connell, Luca Lai, David Redhouse, Robert H. Tykot & Caroline Malone

11.1. The human bone

11.1.1. Introduction
11.1.2. The nature of the deposit
11.1.3. Żebbuġ: the sealed chamber tomb
11.1.4. Methods for the analysis of the Żebbuġ chambered tomb
Contents

11.1.5. Results ........................................ 318
11.1.6. Other Żebbuġ material .................. 319
11.1.7. Tarxien ...................................... 319
11.1.8. The packaging of burial parts ....... 319
11.1.9. The overall patterns of age and sex ... 320
11.1.10. Potential corrections of MNI ......... 321
11.1.11. Description of significant intact individuals 321
11.1.12. Stature .................................... 325
11.1.13. Pathology and other observations ... 325

11.2. The animal bone ............................ 330
11.2.1. Introduction ................................ 330
11.2.2. The general characteristics of the faunal deposit 330
11.2.3. Individual species ......................... 330
11.2.4. Chronological change .................... 333

11.3. Diet and environment in Maltese prehistory: results and potentials of a stable isotopic perspective on the Circle 335
11.3.1. Introduction ................................ 335
11.3.2. Principles of isotopic analysis ........... 336
11.3.3. Materials and methods .................... 337
11.3.4. Results and discussion .................... 338
11.3.5. Conclusions and perspectives ............ 340

11.4. Conclusions ..................................... 340

Chapter 12  Dating Maltese Prehistory .......... 341

CAROLINE MALONE, SIMON STODDART & GORDON COOK

12.1. Żebbuġ and Ġgantija ....................... 345
12.2. Tarxien (Saflieni) ......................... 345
12.3. Tarxien Cemetery .......................... 346
12.4. Comments .................................... 346

Chapter 13  Symposium: the Temple Debate .... 347

13.1. Funerary activity .......................... 347
13.2. The domestic record ....................... 349
13.3. Art and architecture ....................... 350
13.4. Issues of continuity and discontinuity .... 357
13.5. Issues of connectivity and isolation .... 359
13.6. Concluding remarks ....................... 360

Chapter 14  Conclusions ......................... 361

CAROLINE MALONE & SIMON STODDART

14.1. Introduction ................................ 361
14.2. The cycle of life ........................... 362
14.3. Family-orientated life cycles: the Żebbuġ phase 362
14.4. Family and community life cycles: the Ġgantija phase 363
14.5. Community life cycles and florescence and closure: the Tarxien phase 364
14.5.1. The funerary cycle ....................... 364
14.5.2. Tarxien liturgical frameworks in common between temples and funerary complexes 371
14.6. Refocus of the life cycle: the Tarxien Cemetery 379
14.7. Ritual action and the use of the Circle .... 380
14.7.1. The Tarxien funeral ..................... 380
14.7.2. The central role of the cycle of life .... 383
14.8. Future research and analysis ............. 383
14.8.2. Refinement .............................. 383
14.9. The future .................................. 384

References ........................................ 385
Appendices

Appendix 1  Geological Studies     Rhona Chalmers     399
Appendix 2  Micromorphological Descriptions of Analysed Samples     Holly Hardisty     401
Appendix 3  Particle-size Distribution of Micromorphological Samples     Holly Hardisty     403
Appendix 4  Inductively Coupled Plasma Atomic Emission Spectroscopy (ICP-AES)     Holly Hardisty     405
Appendix 5  Simplified Loss-on-ignition Results     Holly Hardisty     407
Appendix 6  Micromorphological Thin Sections     Holly Hardisty     409
Appendix 7  Architectural Stonework and Megalithic Fragments     Caroline Malone     417
Appendix 8  Small Finds Catalogue     Caroline Malone     421
  8.1. Polished stone     421
  8.2. Pebbles and stones     424
  8.3. Worked and architectural stonework     425
  8.4a. Shells, shell buttons and shell beads     434
  8.4b. Fossils and buttons and beads of non-shell material     446
  8.5. Worked-bone pendants     450
  8.6. Small worked-bone heads     452
  8.7. Other worked-bone objects     452
  8.8. Worked Globigerina limestone fragments     453
  8.9. Cache SF784 (context 831)     454
  8.10. Tarxien–Temple Period small ceramic and stone figurines     456
  8.11. Tarxien Cemetery terracotta material and other utilitarian terracotta     459
  8.12a. Obsidian     460
  8.12b. Obsidian samples tested by XRF     463
  8.13. Chert-flint     464
  8.14. Pottery and ceramic objects     472
Appendix 9  Human Remains Catalogue     Simon Stoddart     475
  9.1. Body-part distribution for Tarxien contexts     476
  9.2. Sex distribution across contexts     482
  9.3. NSP, NISP, FI and age distribution for Tarxien contexts     483
Appendix 10  Context Catalogue     Simon Stoddart     503

Index     517